

Take the Somerset Arts Trail

Embark on a colourful adventure and discover the Somerset Mural Trail, where hand-painted murals add a splash of colour across the region. This self-guided journey connects colourful murals and regional galleries across the region's charming country towns.

Fernvale

Begin your Somerset Art Trail in Fernvale, which displays when steam trains were introduced to Fernvale. These can be spotted at the Fernvale Visitor Information Centre Murals along the Brisbane Valley Highway and the Fernvale Memorial Park.

Lowood

Continue on to Lowood, home to several stops on the art trail. Visit the Somerset Regional Council Office Mural on Michel Street, painted by Bronte Naylor to highlight the region's rural surroundings. A short walk away, visit the Clock Park Murals on Peace Street, a mural part of the Bushfire Recovery program by Nicholson Art Company to recognise bushfire resilience and recovery. While in town, make time for the Lowood Folk Art Cooperative, a much-loved community space showcasing locally made crafts, artworks and handmade goods.

Coominya

From Lowood, head towards Coominya, where art greets you as you arrive. Spot the Town entry Mural along Coominya Connection Road, a vibrant introduction to the charming country town. Continue into Coominya Park to spot the murals that highlight the area's unique local culture and community pride.

Take the Somerset Arts Trail

Esk

Next, travel to Esk. Visit the Esk RSL Mural on Ipswich Street, a powerful artwork that honours service and remembrance. From here, stop by Nash's Gallery and Café, set within a historic home and filled with arts, crafts and colourful creations by local artists.

Toogoolawah

The trail continues to Toogoolawah. Seek out the mural next to the Fire Station on Cressbrook Street, a striking artwork that depicts fire recovery. Just a short walk away, explore the Two Galahs Gallery, showcasing paintings, pottery, jewellery and handcrafted works. Round out your visit with a stop at The Condensery, an award-winning regional art gallery that features rotating exhibitions by living Australian artists.

Kilcoy

As you make your way to Kilcoy, detour to Moore to visit the Supper Room Art Gallery, an eclectic gallery featuring fine art, photography, collectibles and antiques. Finish the mural trail in Kilcoy with the Kilcoy BP Service Station Mural on Hope Street, the Kilcoy Ambulance Station Mural and the Kilcoy Showground Mural at Woolmar.
